The democratic party under present leadership is open to the definition that it is composed of people who are generally opposed to everything.

Latest reports relating to the disposition of President Schuyler of the United States and corporation indicate that he has received as well as salary.

The Maine newspapers say that there will be a short rack of aulines this season because the dog has been eating up the berries. That's a most delicate way of coming up to a bit of fiction in the park.

The prime source of national prosperity is to be found in the abundance of property of the workers throughout the civilized world. More than ever now is to be found in business than in statecraft. In fact, the workers may well ask the statesman as a rule to let them alone. In that country, at any rate, we can hardly think of anything more disastrous than would be the recession to office of a lot of statesmen placed to administer organizations or taking care with the lot.

Uncle Silas, in the American Threshing, is responsible for the following bits of sound philosophy.

If we struggled hard as hard to keep down expenses as we do to keep up appearances we would soon have a bank account.

This little item of "common sense" which we hear so much about as being necessary in the affairs of life is not so common after all.

Some men are so rushed in this world that if they were to be caught they would want to come down town in the morning and work until the hour set for the funeral.

SOUTHERN DEVELOPMENT.

Southern enterprise is making great strides in this twentieth century. The southern people are making business records that are astonishing the North. The Manufacturers Record, in an analysis of the Southern textile industries, presents some wonderfully suggestive figures, showing the growth of the industry in the last twenty years, and comparing it with that of New England. The increase of capital in the textile industries from 1880 to 1900 throughout the country was $588,284,496, equal to 112 per cent. of this increase, $263,228,215 is credited to New England, equal to 106 per cent. and $121,461,015 to the Southern states, equal to 178 per cent. "Time in twenty years the South had increased its textile industry nearly five-fold, so far as capitalization is concerned, while the increase in the production of the manufacture is 54 per cent. compared with 22 per cent. for New England. If this ratio continues for the next few years, the South will take its place as the acknowledged leader in the textile trade of the country, which would be quite appropriate for the section that produces the raw material on which the whole business is based.

AN ISLAND FOR SALE.

Connoisseurs have an island which it proposes to sell. State Treasurer Gallup has leased a handbill offering Vincent Island in Stamford harbor, for sale. It is owned by the state in fee simple. The general assembly at its last session authorized the Treasurer to sell the island, using his judgment in the matter. Bids for the land will be received at the state treasurer's office up to noon of Aug. 29. The terms are cash, and the treasurer reserves the right to reject any and all bids. The island contains about a half acre of land, more or less, varying with the tide, a one-story house, a barn and about a half dozen shade trees. The sale will be subject to a lease to Victor Solbeck, which expires in 1913.

There is considerable uncertainty as to how the state came into possession of this and other islands lying off the coast, but there can be no doubt that the state owns them, as no other owner has ever appeared, and they have been leased by the state to different parties at various intervals with legislative sanction.

DEMOCRATIC INCONSISTENCY

Our democratic friends in their desperation for an issue, says the Troy Times, are squinting toward the tariff again. Here and there one hears a suggestion that protective duties be abolished. But the proposition is a general one. When it comes to particular the suggesters take to the woods. For instance, what democratic newspaper in this locality dares to advocate the removal of the duty on shirts, collars and cuffs, knit goods and other articles manufactured in Troy and vicinity? The question is pertinent in view of the arguments for "tariff reform" recently heard. The "Times-Citizen" of Jacksonville, Fla., taking as a text the recent declaration by President Hitt of the Great Northern railway that the time has come to abolish protection to American industries, remarks:

Why should not Protection for Protection's sake be taken from those industries which have captured the world and are yet unwilling to release the farmer and the home from whom they took strength to grow? Republicanism is a great virtue because of our wonderful position; are these still the infants to whom we gave the benefit of weaker? If so, why boast of the excellence of republican policy? If not, why not pay?

To which the New York "Commercial" makes this apt reply:

What, now, to get down to business, what, then, on the list of American manufactured articles now protected by tariff laws that could stand without the taking of that tax of a very moderate fraction in 112 and what advantage would thereby accrue to the American people? We have no purpose of entering on an old-fashioned, old-fashioned debate at the beginning of warm weather. But we would like to know just where our Florida contemporaries are at in the knife fight. Would it not be the duty of citizens and citizens, for instance?

That is "inconsistent." And so is protection as a principle. It means the guarding of American industry from the presence of foreign competition, let the tariff reformers say what they will as to the necessity of such a barrier.

The question put to the Florida paper is one that might be asked of every other democratic newspaper, in a form varied to suit the locality. Where should the knife be applied? From what products could the duties be removed without detriment to the interests of the immediate vicinity?

The democratic party faced such a problem as this not long ago, and the work it made when it undertook to abolish protection and "release the farmer and mechanic" is still in vivid recollection. The tariff of 1894, which the democratic President Cleveland refused to sign, has not yet been forgotten. And the farmer and mechanic have good reason to remember the disastrous period which followed its enactment.

THESE ARE NO DOG DAYS.
Mr. Charles H. Hankinson, superintendent of the American Society for the prevention of cruelty to animals, takes a whiff at the popular superstition of "dog days" and "mad dogs." He is a cruel bonafide. There are many people who get much happiness out of being afraid of mad dogs. Mr. Hankinson says that, "Hardly any phrase is more misleading, or has done more injury to man and beast, than 'The dog days.' In July and August it is supposed that dogs are in danger of rabies, and that human beings are subject to hydrophobia, if bitten by them.

I have been with the society for 30 years. I have never seen a mad dog. I don't believe there is such a thing as hydrophobia. When you hear the cry, 'Mad dog!' in the street, the chances are many thousands to one that the dog is not mad. When you read in the newspapers that some one has been bitten by a mad dog, the chances are thousands to one that it is not true.

If a human being is bitten by a dog to a fearful death by hydrophobia? Not at all, for, if it exists at all hydrophobia in human beings is much more rare than rabies in a dog.

Physicians who have given special attention to the subject are convinced that hydrophobia is never caused by the bite of a dog. It is simply a hysterical nervous disease caused by unfounded dread.

But how to be sure that a dog is not mad?

It is supposed that a mad dog dreads water. It is not so. He is apt to plunge his head in up to the eyes, though he cannot drink.

It is supposed that a mad dog runs about in intense excitement. The so-called mad dog never runs about in agitation. If approached by man or dog, he shows no signs of excitement, but snaps and resumes his solitary trot.

If a dog barks, yelps or howls, he is not mad. The only sound a mad dog emits is a hoarse howl, and that but rarely.

It is supposed that a mad dog

froths at the mouth. If the dog's mouth is covered with white froth, the dog is not mad. The sure sign of a mad dog, so the authorities say, is a thick andropy brown mucous clinging to the lips.

I repeat: There is no such thing as human hydrophobia, and I have never seen a mad dog. There are sick dogs, and dogs that have fits."

WHERE WE SEND OUR MANUFACTURES.

According to a new system of tabulation now in operation by the Bureau of Statistics in the Treasury Department it is possible to show exactly what becomes of our exports of manufactures as to their distribution among our foreign customers in various parts of the world. The latest report from this source shows that during the fiscal year 1901, Europe took 52 per cent of our manufactures exported, 23 per cent went to North America, 6.8 per cent to South America, 8.2 per cent to Asia, 7 per cent to Oceania, and a little less than 3 per cent to Africa.

The total value of manufactures exported to Europe was $215,000,000; to North America, $86,000,000; to South America, $27,000,000; to Asia, $23,700,000; to Oceania, $23,000,000, and to Africa $10,500,000.

In all of these continents except one—Asia—iron and steel manufactures formed the chief item of importation from the United States; in Asia silk reared or manufactured formed the largest item, $12,443,128; the next largest items being iron and steel, $8,992,967; cotton, $8,265,381 and tobacco, $1,000,857.

One of the most striking things about the tables is the small percentage of our manufactures that goes to Africa—only 3 per cent of the whole and valued at only $10,500,000 in 1901. Oceania took over twice as much in percentage and about three times as much in value.

If our American manufacturers need a trade tip at all, it stands out very plainly in these Treasury tables.

THE TOWN BOARD

Will Open a New Road—Collecting Poll Tax.

The regular meeting of the town board was held at the office of Clerk Coltrin Saturday. Only Commissioners Amman and Hubbard were present.

Clerk Coltrin was directed to notify Mrs. S. A. Schwartz and Michael Clark to remove their fences from the site of the new road that was surveyed in the northeast part of the township a few months ago. The clerk is to notify the parties that the commissioners desire to improve the road and that unless the fences are removed within ten days the commissioners will move them and charge the costs to the parties named.

Taylor & Disney were present to confer with the board in the matter of the payment of their claim for making the fill at the Stevens Creek bridge. The board decided to pay $66.11 of their claim and let the remainder go over until a conference was held with Commissioner Moffett who superintended the work.

Several complaints were on file relating to washouts in the country roads occasioned by the recent rains. The board made arrangements to repair all unsafe places.

Town Clerk Coltrin reported that the payment of poll tax was brightening. He was instructed to not cease in his vigilance. The board has made the ruling that every man who is due to pay the tax must pay it or be sued.

Plea to the Court.

Justice Giegerich of the Supreme court, who has a fine summer home on Staten Island, is fond of sailing, and a few days ago he invited a friend of his, a lawyer, to go down the bay with him. At the start the wind was brisk, but soon freshened into a gale and caused the little craft they were in to toss and roll in a manner that soon caused the lawyer's features to twist into expressive contortions.

Justice Giegerich, noticing his friend's plight, laid a soothing hand on the latter's shoulder and said:

"My dear fellow, can I do anything for you?"

"Yes, your honor," replied the lawyer in plaintive tones. "You will greatly oblige me by overruling this motion."

HIGH PRICES STILL RULE.

Douglas and Coles County Farms Are In Demand.

A deal was completed Tuesday whereby H. A. Lux sold his farm of eighty acres adjoining the city limits on the south to Tim Flaherty. The price paid was $120 per acre.

Prior to buying the Lux farm Mr. Flaherty sold his eighty acres lying adjoining the old Biglow place in North Okaw township to Dick Lambrecht for $120 per acre.—Mattoon Journal.

Hyron E. Smith sold his farm to the Relic Brothers Monday. The farm consists of 265 acres and lies just north of the city. It brought the handsome figure of $127.50 per acre.—Newman Record.

Two Polish Girls Produced the Necessary Witnesses When Their Story Was Doubted.

WARRANTS WERE DISMISSED.

Ludwig Loskowski Held to the Grand Jury and Gives Bond.

Mollie and Grace Nowitz, two little girls who live in the 1400 block on East Orchard street, were arrested Saturday and taken before Justice Hane. They were charged by a young woman named Anna Yodder with the theft of three razor rings.

Miss Yodder resides at the Howard boarding house on East Eldorado street. It seems that about two weeks ago she laid her rings on a brick wall while washing her hands. She forgot the ornaments until she had sat down to the dinner table and when she returned to get them they were gone. A search proved fruitless and after a week had passed and the rings had not turned up the young lady thought they were gone for good.

Last Tuesday a young man at the boarding house told Miss Yodder that he had seen an older sister of the girls wearing a ring that he had seen on Miss Yodder's finger and the young lady went to a restaurant where the older girl was employed and got the ring. When questioned the girl said that she got it from her little sister, but she did not know how the smaller girl had come into possession of it. Miss Yodder, however, remembered seeing the little girls leading a dog from the alley on the day she missed her rings and she went before Justice Hane and had a warrant issued for their arrest.

Justice Hane questioned the girls and they admitted that they were in the alley on the day mentioned, but said that they had not taken the rings. When asked where they got the one their older sister and they said they found it in the alley at the rear of the Bohon store. They offered to bring witnesses who had seen them pick up the ring and the justice gave them until Saturday afternoon to find their witnesses.

In the afternoon the little girls appeared with two little boys. The boys said that they saw the girls pick up a small package at the rear of Bohon's and heard them say that there was a ring in it, but they did not see the ring. The girls claimed that there was only one ring in the package they found and that they knew nothing of the other rings Miss Yodder had lost.

The situation was a puzzle for Justice Hane. He questioned the children and even went so far as to threaten them with a term in the reform school, but they did not flinch. They maintained to the last that they had found the one ring in the Bohon alley and could not account for the others. The justice questioned their parents closely and when he learned that they had never been in trouble and had always borne a good reputation he concluded to dismiss the case.

A pole named Ludwig Loskowski was taken before Justice O'Mara Saturday and given a chance to explain what he knew about the disappearance of a cheese that was missing from a Wabash car several days ago. It seems that words failed the Pole when it came time to talk and such a cloud of suspicion hovered over him that Justice O'Mara concluded to hold him until the grand jury met. The warrant was wanted to cover charges of burglary and larceny and bail was fixed at $500. The Pole had a friend who stood for his appearance and Ludwig was allowed to go his way.

"Deafness Cannot be Cured by Local Applications as they can not reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; time cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

FARMERS PICNIC

The Annual Event Was Held in The Grove at Morgansville Saturday.

LAKE YOUNG AND C. A. WINDLE

Debated Two Hours On The Political Issues of The Day.

The annual Morgansville picnic was held on Saturday. For many years, not only the farmers but all the people for many miles around have flocked to that place about the first of August. In addition to having a day of pleasure, the event has been made one of instruction and there is always a political debate. There is not another such picnic in central Illinois. It is not for profit, republicans and democrats alike participate in its arrangements and they arrange so well that the interest is always keen and the crowd is large.

The gathering yesterday was no exception to the rule. They don't have exceptions in the picnic line. They are all successful. A perfect picnic grove, a congenial crowd, picnic weather, everything combined to make the affair a pleasant one.

L. P. Drake was the chairman of the meeting and Supervisor H. J. Yarnell of Mosquito township delivered an address of welcome that removed all doubts if any existed about the cordiality of the welcome extended to all.

Rev. Thos. Cole of Parsons, Kans., asked divine blessing on the assembled multitude.

The feature of the day is in dispute. Those who care more to eat believed that it was in the many picnic dinners spread in all parts of the grove. A man could not have got away from that place hungry if he had so desired. Every one who had no individual interest in a basket received many invitations to dine and usually the only regret was that all of them could not be accepted.

The local politicians believed the argument between Lake Young, republican, of Des Moines, and C. A. Windle, democrat, of Chicago, was the event of the day. They debated for two hours, speaking fifteen minutes at a time. Six years ago during a period of business depression when the free silver cry was raised, not a few persons had doubts about the correctness of their political position. Then it was that Windle of the Galling Can could keep many of them guessing. But it was the other way yesterday and the editor from the Hawkeye state, backed by results coming from policies denounced by the silverites had the best of the argument.

Owen Scott, of Decatur, had been announced as the one to oppose Windle in debate and he made a few remarks explaining that he had given away to his old friend, Lake Young, of the Des Moines Daily Capital.

B. F. Caldwell was there and made a non-partisan speech to his old friends.

The crowd was variously estimated but the consensus was that 5000 was a conservative estimate of the number of persons on the picnic grounds. There were no incidents to mar the pleasure of a perfect day.

First Broomcorn in Illinois.

The first broomcorn raised in Illinois, was planted, cultivated, cured and marketed by T. N. Cofer and his father in 1888, near Charleston, from overgrown seed, brought by the latter from Tennessee.

Though their methods were the crudest the twenty-five-acre crop was successful.

Mr. Cofer has continuously grown the brush, receiving for the same, prices varying from $40 per ton to $140, the latter being received in the 70s. He is a broomcorn enthusiast, but says that no owner of a well improved central Illinois farm can afford to grow the brush for less than $70 a ton.—Sullivan Herald.

Marion. William T. Mitchell, died on Thursday afternoon at the residence of T. C. Grady. His home was in Webster City, Iowa. He had been in failing health for the last three years. He leaves surviving him several children, among whom are Mrs. T. C. Grady of Marion, and Mrs. Laura Hartsock of Lane, Decatur. In 1831 funeral services were held at the residence of T. C. Grady on Friday forenoon. Elder S. Edwood Fisher of the Christian church officiating.

The contract for the erection of a steel tower and tank for the city water works, was awarded at the special session of the city council, on Thursday evening, to the Marion Manufacturing Co. for the sum of $3000. The bid was several hundred dollars lower than any other bid.

The rain on Thursday afternoon prevented the ball game between the Keweenaw and Marion teams.

The farmers and land owners on the county line between Macon and DeWitt counties will petition the boards of commissioners of Highways of Marion and DeWitt townships to narrow the road on the county line to forty feet in width.

H. D. Harpster and family will move into the Peter Wilkoff property on the east side in a few days.

Robert Morris a former citizen of Austin township, now residing at Crowley, La., is visiting in this vicinity.

Several of Marion's citizens have engaged tents and will camp at Weldon Springs, during the session of the chautauque, August 15th to 25th.

There is talk of organizing a company in Marion to prospect for coal.
